Hops & Barleys is one of the few bars around that has a two-tiered bar. Back in the day, Savage's Bar hosted many burlesque shows in the dining room area. Patrons sitting at the higher end of the bar were able to view the show from where they sat, while those sitting at the lower level could see the show by looking at the mirrors placed directly above the seats at the higher end.

The mirrors are also a handy tool for bar tenders. Serving patrons can get a bit hectic at times, so the mirrors help bar tenders know what's going on at all times.
